

THE CHARWORTH HOMES TEAM TACKLES LOCAL LITTERBUGS

Family-run housing developer, Charworth Homes, took to the streets of Barton-Upon-Humber on Earth Day (22nd April) in a bid to help clean up the town!

Inspired by local litter heroes Barton Baggers, the team at Charworth Homes got their hands dirty with a few hours of litter picking in support of the event.

Managing Director, James Pearson had this to say,

“It’s important that we do all we can to support the communities in the towns and villages we build in. Barton is a lovely market town, and we’re more than happy to do our bit to help clean it up – not just for our buyers, but for every resident who already lives here. We’re not just about building homes; we like to do all that we can while we’re here to have a positive impact on the community.”

Team Charworth is eager to get involved with further community work to support local towns and villages. Interested in working with them to make a difference in your area? Contact their friendly team today.
